Urban waterpark plan approved for Royal Arsenal

by Dan Stephens

AN EXCITING new phase of the development of the Royal Arsenal in Woolwich was confirmed last week (April 20) when the royal borough granted planning permission for the Waterfront Park, a vibrant four-acre green space that will be created by Berkeley Homes.

The park will establish an enhanced green link connecting the Royal Arsenal and Woolwich town centre to the River Thames as well as offer a vast range of community benefits for residents of the Royal Arsenal and surrounding area. The new park forms part of the Waterfront masterplan, which was granted outline planning permission in 2013.

The Waterfront Park has been designed by award-winning landscape architects, Gillespies, and once opened will offer local residents and visitors an exciting recreation space which includes a waterway and multiple landscapes complete with their own distinct features. The new space will have something for everyone, whether it is picnicking with the family, going for a jog, having a coffee in the café or simply enjoying the river views.

The new park is designed to reflect the theme of a stream's journey from source to river and has six multiple aspects making up the water feature that flows through the space. They

Mini marathon was mara-fun

MINI MARATHON MATES: young runners trail through Greenwich Park supported by their families

by Ronnie Woods

FUTURE marathon stars started their running careers with a sprint around Greenwich Park a week ahead of Sunday's London Marathon.

One thousand young runners walked, strolled and jogged around the royal park on Sunday April 19 for the Greenwich and Bexley Community Hospice Mini Marathon.

They raised £40,000 for the hospice after the 2.62 mile run started by Mayor of Greenwich Councillor Mick Hayes, waving a London Marathon flag on a crane above the five to sixteen-year-old runners. All runners received a medal at the finish line and prizes were awarded to the top fundraisers.

Organiser Augusta Adu said: "This was the third year of the Mini Marathon and the number of runners entering has made this our most successful event yet. The best part of the day for me was seeing the children's faces as they crossed the finish line to receive their medals."

"We want to thank each and every one of our marvellous mini marathoners for their dedication, hard work and effort and we look forward to seeing them all again in 2016. A big thank you also goes to our team of volunteers; without their support this event wouldn't be possible."

The money raised will be enough to enable hospice doctors and nurses to provide specialist care to patients for one whole week.

● For more information about Greenwich and Bexley Community Hospice please visit www.communityhospice.org.uk.

● Council staff were on hand to clean-up the royal borough in the wake of Sunday's London Marathon. A total of 73 members of staff, of which 11 were apprentices, took part in the clean-up operation alongside seven mechanical sweepers and three refuse trucks. The annual marathon effort by the council's teams to get local streets cleaned as soon as possible could match last year's achievement when two tonnes worth of plastic bottles and other waste were cleared within hours of the race, with over 90 per cent of waste being recycled.

include the source, babbling brook, river run, confluence, falls and delta. There are also plenty of other interesting parts of the new park, including the sensory gardens and central piazza.

Undoubtedly the flagship development for Woolwich, the Royal Arsenal is a key waterfront development which on completion will see over 2,500 homes built on the site. Additionally there will also be a new heritage quarter housing the Greenwich Heritage Centre and other attractions.

Cllr Danny Thorpe, the royal borough's cabinet member for regeneration and transport told GT: "The creation of the new Waterfront Park is yet another step in the exciting development of Woolwich's Royal Arsenal and will see a vibrant green space unlike anything else in the local area. I'm convinced that the new park will be a huge benefit to the local community and add to the character of the Arsenal, which is already a hugely exciting commercial, residential and leisure quarter."

Designer outlet

Discount retail development agreed by planners

by Dick Townsend-Smith

VACANT space at The O2 is to be turned into a vibrant designer outlet village, with cafes and a shopping centre, completely circling the O2's central arena.

Developers AEG Europe aim to make it a new visitor attraction in its own right, complementing the entertainment, leisure and retail attractions already there in what's known as the O2 Entertainment District. Royal Greenwich's planning board agreed the scheme when they met last Monday (April 20).

Although all under the O2's canopy, the shop fronts will be designed to look like a village high street, encouraging tenants to make them stand out and different from each other. The vacant space will be divided into two separate zones – one single-storey called 'The Cloud', and the other with two storeys, called 'The Street'.

The Street will have two levels of shops, connected by bridges and walkways. A canopy will make it look like the dappled shade of a tree lined thoroughfare.

The shops will sell goods from premium brands at discounted outlet prices. There will be areas set aside for small kiosks selling outlet goods such as sunglasses.

The development will provide alfresco-style dining, with cafes and family restaurants. It will also have customer facilities such as toilet suites, disabled toilets and baby changing rooms. Shopmobility and shopper delivery service will also be available. A management suite with office space and staff facilities will also be provided.

The O2 opened in June 2007 and is now world-famous as a successful national sports and entertainment venue. It is part of the much larger area being redeveloped for the Greenwich Peninsula Masterplan.

Wildlife counting on you

GREENWICH Peninsula Ecology Park is inviting residents and nature-lovers to help them count birds, animals and insects this spring, with its dawn-to-dusk wildlife survey.

On Sunday May 3, park wardens and volunteers will be surveying wildlife from dawn at 5.30am until dusk at 8.30pm.

What's more you can get sponsored and raise some valuable cash in aid of the Ecology Park's Outdoor Classroom Appeal, which is aiming to raise enough money to build a brand new educational space to inspire children and adults about wildlife, conservation, the environment.

Visitors can come along and watch throughout the day or get sponsored and take part in fun public survey sessions at set times. These include a Dawn Chorus walk, pond dipping and minibeast hunting sessions, a dusk bird walk, bat detecting and insect light traps.

Joanne Smith, Senior Warden said: "This is a unique opportunity to discover the weird and wonderful range of animals that live in wild areas, even in a busy city like London. And of course you get to support a great cause at the same time."

The event is suitable for all ages and the site has good disabled access. No previous knowledge is needed and all equipment is provided.

SHOPPERS' PARADISE: the new shopping zone is set to become an attraction in itself

Café served up more than just cups of tea

Illegal gambling den shut down

by Dick Townsend-Smith

CUSTOMERS going to a café and fitness spa in Court Road, Eltham, were getting more than just a cup of tea and a go on an exercise bike.

Residents nearby had complained that men were visiting the Mottingham Café and Spa all hours of the night. So an investigation by the council's Safer Communities team, working with the police, led to reports that the building was being used for gambling and as an illegal brothel.

When they went inside they found it was being used as a brothel with beds, and an unauthorised gambling den with poker tables. They served the owner with a closure order, which prevents the premises from being used and forbids anyone to remain on site for three months. No arrests were made.

A council spokesman said: "We take situations like this very seriously. Working together with the police, we will not hesitate to issue closure orders if there is sufficient evidence to warrant this action."

Sgt Simon Henderson from Greenwich police said: "We work closely with the council on issues such as the ones highlighted in Court Road. I hope the closure order reassures residents and businesses and shows that we take their concerns seriously."

He added: "Anyone with suspicions or concerns should speak to police and the council to provide us with the opportunity to intervene and resolve any local issues as swiftly as possible."

FIRST STEPS TO WORKING LIFE: students arrive at the Woolwich Centre, right, Maria Animashaun, Cathal Charker, Katrina Macdonald

Tomorrow's tale

by Dan Stephens

AMBITIOUS students got an insight into the world of work and the job opportunities offered by the royal borough when they took part in a special work experience project.

The students from Shooters Hill Post 16 Campus visited the council HQ at the Woolwich Centre for the Tomorrow's Talent Day last Thursday (April 23).

The all-day event, which was in partnership with the Local Government Association (LGA) and the employment agency Manpower involved 25 young people in total - who took part in a wide range of learning exercises, met royal borough staff and learnt about the role of the council, both as an organisation and as an employer.

The royal borough is one of the first councils to work with the LGA on this kind of project, which is part of the council's commitment to improve youth employment for young people in the royal borough.

Shooters Hill students Cathal Charker, Katrina Macdonald, Maria Animashaun and Olumide Matesun were all participants in the Tomorrow's Talent Day. They took part in exercises and challenges designed to give them valuable advice about the facets of top management roles.

Cathal told GT: "This morning we've been networking and improving our interpersonal skills and I've really enjoyed it - it's been a new opportunity for me - particularly as it's the council."

Katrina said: "The day has allowed us to work as a team and meet new people. We've had an insight into potentially working for the royal borough and the different sections within the organisation. Meeting the managers was also beneficial as well."

Maria added: "This event has been a good insight into the role of being a manager and general employment as well. I've found out a lot about the royal borough and the different departments you could potentially work for."

Olumide said: "It's been good. It's motivated me to learn more about the council and potential employment opportunities. I was able to present and share my ideas as well as learning from others."

Council chief executive John Comber was present to meet the students and opened Tomorrow's Talent. He told GT: "The council is committed to providing opportunities for local people to work for our local authority and today's event was important in showing young people from Shooters Hill Post 16 Campus the huge range of employment prospects that the council provides."

"The input from the students was of a very high standard and I hope they have benefitted from this learning opportunity and their perceptions of what the council can offer them have been enhanced."

'Phenomenal'

Ofsted inspectors heap high praise on St Ursula's

by Dick Townsend-Smith

ST Ursula's Convent School on Crooms Hill, Greenwich, has been ranked as 'phenomenal' in every by inspectors from the schools' watchdog Ofsted.

They gave top marks for pupils' achievement and their behaviour, the quality of teaching, and how the school is led and managed.

A team of three Ofsted inspectors spent two days at the Roman Catholic all-girls school in March, where there are 600 students. They sat in on 27 lessons, and talked to pupils, staff and governors. They also took account of staff questionnaires and the views of parents.

In their report, the inspectors said:

- Achievements of all students is exceptionally high in all areas
- The behaviour of students in lessons and around the school is outstanding.
- Leadership and management are outstanding
- Students' spiritual, moral, social and cultural development is outstanding. Curriculum provision, including a wide range of other activities, ensures that students are well prepared for life in modern Britain.

Inspectors noted the fact that:

Parents and carers are very positive about the school while a very large majority say they would recommend the school to others.

The proportion of students making more than expected progress in English and in mathematics was around double the national average. There was also exceptional progress in nearly all subjects across the curriculum.

Disadvantaged students perform especially well thanks to the school's supportive ethos, combined with high expectations, resulting in phenomenal achievement for disadvantaged students. In addition to the outstanding Ofsted report, St Ursula's has joined the top 1 per cent of schools nationally in terms of the progress made by pupils between their Key Stage 2 results at primary school and their GCSE results at 16.

Headteacher Ciara Warnock said: "It

EXCELLENT RESULTS: as well as this year's outstanding Ofsted report, St Ursula's got their best ever GCSE exam results last year is not very often Ofsted use the word 'phenomenal' in their report but it is fantastic to see that they acknowledge and applaud the efforts of the school. The staff, students, parents, governors and all those involved with the school deserve this outcome, as everyone works tirelessly to ensure our children get the very best of everything.

"I would like to thank everyone for their dedication and commitment to the school. This is an incredible place in which to learn, to work and to grow. I feel very proud and honoured to be the headteacher of a truly amazing school."

Cllr John Fahy, the council's cabinet member for children's services, said: "I am delighted with this Ofsted report. It is a great tribute to the teaching staff, the students, the governors and all involved in making St Ursula's a very successful school."

Catering skills and training on offer

A NEW training company is now running the council's skills centre for the hospitality and catering industry based at Charlton Athletic's ground, The Valley.

Called JACE Training, it is holding introductory workshops for students on Monday, May 11, in the North Stand between 10am and 4pm.

JACE is working in partnership with the Council and Greenwich Local Labour and Business (GLLaB) to provide training and apprenticeships. The skills centre is one of four in the royal borough supported by the council. The others are the Kidbrooke construction skills centre, Hadlow College equestrian and horticultural centre, and Ravensbourne digital college on the Greenwich Peninsula.

JACE's courses at The Valley are designed for unemployed people who are 19 or over. The workshop groups are small, and are free to unemployed people. The qualifications gained can lead to a variety of jobs, such as in catering or bar work, as a chef or kitchen assistant, or as a receptionist.

A JACE spokesman said: "This is an exciting time for JACE

Training, which strives to bring career opportunities to local people, and equip them with the skills, knowledge and support that will enable them to succeed.

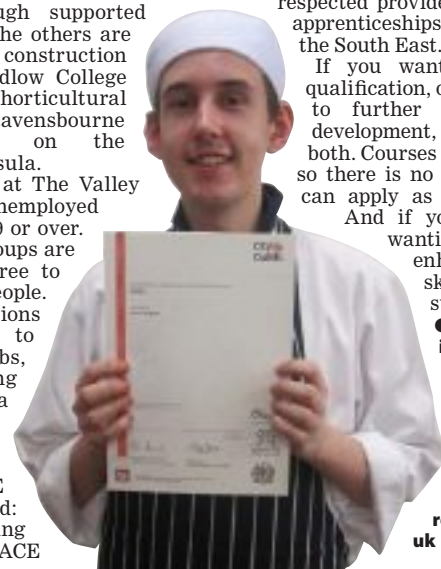

"With a dedicated team of assessors and trainers, and a wealth of expertise to bring to The Valley skills centre, it is sure to be a success. Anyone interested in starting a career or getting into work should contact JACE Training to book a space for the next course that starts on May 11."

The firm established in 1981 and is now one of the largest and most respected providers of training and apprenticeships across London and the South East.

If you want to gain a new qualification, or if you are looking to further your professional development, JACE can offer both. Courses start all year round so there is no need to wait - you can apply as soon as you like.

And if you are a business wanting to develop and enhance your staff's skills, then JACE can support you.

QUALIFIED: Former apprentice James said: "I'd always wanted to work in the catering industry. At my first meeting with JACE the whole concept of what an apprenticeship involved was explained to me. I thought it sounded a brilliant way to get into the industry. Once I had completed my apprenticeship I was very happy to hear that my boss wanted to renew my contract and offer me a full-time job." EXCITEMENT ran high for the girls at Eltham Hill School when it hosted VIP guests for its own version of Question Time.

Featuring political heavyweights from the main parties, together with Bianca Miller, a finalist on The Apprentice, BBC Radio 5 Live broadcast its show live from the school. Presenter Peter Allen also interviewed principal, Madeleine Griffin, and senior vice-principal Navdeep Mand, as well as students.

Year 13 student Pheebe Asare said: "It was a once in a life time experience which allowed me to take part in direct political action." And Rhiannon Kelleher-Gomez, also from Year 13, said: "To have the opportunity of BBC radio and the school being involved in engaging so many young people in politics was life-changing. The timing could not have been better, bringing big name politicians into our school just before what is set to be one of the most interesting and exciting elections."

John Pienaar, BBC Radio 5 Live chief political correspondent, spoke about the importance of young people being interested in politics. He said: "Just

The Big London ENERGY SWITCH

A scheme to help Londoners get a better deal on their gas and electricity bills

Over 5000 Greenwich residents have registered for the Big London Energy Switch since the scheme began. The results of the last round in February 2015 were the best yet – with average savings in Greenwich of over £250 and winning tariffs better than anything available direct from suppliers or via price comparison services.

How does the scheme work?

- Ⓔ The Big London Energy Switch is a collective switching scheme being run by the Royal Borough of Greenwich and a number of other councils in London
- Ⓔ By gathering together a large number of people who want to lower their gas and electricity bills the Big London Energy Switch, using a third party 'switching provider', can encourage energy companies to offer their lowest prices
- Ⓔ Once registration is closed, all the energy companies are invited to offer their best prices to everyone who registered
- Ⓔ You will then receive details of exactly how much money you could potentially save by switching if you accept the offer
- Ⓔ You can choose to accept the offer or not

Meanwhile, the school was hosting a second visitor, US Ambassador Matthew Barzun. He spoke to students in years 11, 12 and 13 about the USA and asked them their honest thoughts about his country. Students asked him questions about US involvement in wars, gun crime, the financial crash and politics.

Bethany Freeman from Year 13 said: "It was really interesting. Ambassador Barzun told us about the United States that many people do not know, for example the decisions that need to be made regarding politics. I would be interested in going to America, I would be especially interested in the food as I am a hospitality and catering student."

Put your best foot

IT'S fun, it's free, and best of all it makes you look and feel fitter. No doubt about it, walking is a winner all round. Next month is National Walking Month, and the council has put together a list of organised walks, with something for everybody, to encourage people to get out and get involved.

GREENWICH TIME reports...

Good for your health

WALKING works. It makes people happy, it keeps you healthy, and can even save a life.

That's the conclusion of an extensive new review produced by The Ramblers, the charity that works to protect places people love to walk, and Macmillan Cancer Support.

It says that Walking for Health, England's largest network of health walk schemes, is the key to beating the physical inactivity epidemic that's responsible for thousands of illnesses and deaths, and puts immense strain on the NHS.

The evidence also reveals that walking brings people together, helps them feel positive and is a cost-effective way to exercise as well.

People living or working in the Royal Borough of Greenwich are almost spoiled for choice when it comes to finding places to walk.

There are its many extensive parks, the Thames Path, and green places such as Oxleas Wood. Architectural gems such as Charlton House and Severndroog Castle can also be reached on foot.

The UK Chief Medical Officers' recommended amount of exercise for adults is 150 minutes of moderate physical activity per week. That breaks down to 30 minutes of exercise over five days a week.

Thirty-seven thousand deaths every year could be prevented just by taking a walk. Being active also slashes the risk of getting heart disease, a stroke, type 2 diabetes, and colon and breast cancer.

Even though 30 minutes is the ideal, it suggests starting with three shorter 10-minute walks and slowly building up to the 30-minute walk once you feel comfortable.

The sooner you get started the sooner you'll notice the difference in your mind and body.

Half an hour of daily walking can be hugely beneficial to your health. But one in three adults don't manage 30 minutes of physical activity per week. So here are some tips:

- Walking uphill uses more energy than walking along flat surfaces.

- Track your walking to measure how far you are going and start considering how to increase your mileage

- Get social. The best thing about walking is that you can do it solo or with friends, and it doesn't cost a thing.

- Get further tips about walking for health and fitness at www.walkingforhealth.org.uk

Meet the artist at open studio weekends

TWENTY artists show their work at venues across SE3 for the Blackheath Art Society Open Studios next month.

For two weekends - May 9-10 and May 16-17 - there's a chance to talk to the artists and watch some of them at work.

Artists will be showing their work from 12-6pm at eight venues in the area. Paintings, drawings, prints, ceramics, sculptures, textiles, jewellery, photography, tideline art and combinations of all of these can be seen and enjoyed free.

Highlights this year include Julia Godsiff's mostly bronze sculptures on show at 29 Foxes Dale SE3 9BH while Nicola White who creates glass from the flotsam and jetsam on the Thames Foreshore opens her studio at 10 Hardy Road SE3 7NP. Althea Battams's exciting and detailed paintings capture light and shadow in a fresh way. She is one of four artists showing at 40 Reynolds Place SE3 8SX. At 64 Shooters Hill Road SE3 7BG two fine painters, Pat Colman and Wendy Russell share their love of colour with visitors.

"This year the Open Studios are clustered around Blackheath Village and Blackheath Standard creating the opportunity for an enjoyable, and culture filled, walk," said Althea.

A taster exhibition of the work of some Open Studio artists is at the Greenwich Picture House upstairs bar from May 1-18. More members of the Blackheath Art Society will be showing their work at the Summer Exhibition at Blackheath Halls SE3 9RQ from June 4-29 and at the Paul Mc Pherson Gallery October 19-30.

SHIPMATES of all ages can join a motley crew on a seafaring adventure for the latest exhibition at the National Maritime Museum.

It involves braving treacherous waters and mutinous crews, and defying ruthless pirates and fearsome captains – but it's great fun!

Life jackets will be donned as visitors become part of the crew of HMS Adventure. Taking on seafaring roles of ship's watch, navigation, midshipmen and salvage, the teams will be called upon to navigate through an extraordinary exhibition. 'Against Captain's Orders: A Journey in the Uncharted' combines the museum's wealth of maritime history and artefacts with the innovative talents of Punchdrunk Enrichment, a groundbreaking theatre company specialising in immersive theatre designed to create a captivating, educational experience.

It's an exclusive first for the museum industry with the National Maritime Museum collaborating with Punchdrunk Enrichment to take six to twelve year olds and their families on the adventure of a lifetime.

Harnessing the heroics of Grace Darling, who launched a daring rescue mission of shipwrecked sailors, the intuition of Captain Bligh, who journeyed over 4,000 miles with the help of just a sextant and compass after being abandoned by his crew, and the intellect of Sir Francis Drake, one of the first men to circumnavigate the globe, audiences

BIDDING FOR PROPERTIES

People on the Housing register are able to bid for all properties, regardless of their banding. You must be eligible for the size of property and bids will be considered in the following order:

First Band A, followed by Band B both in priority date order.

Those in Band C will then be considered in registration date order.

Please note that there will still be some properties with age restrictions so only people of this age group can apply for these.

BAND

- A is for applicants in unsatisfactory housing, including people moving due to demolition and those underoccupying their homes.
- B is for applicants the Royal Borough of Greenwich must prioritise according to the law, particularly homeless people, and others with an urgent need to move for medical or welfare reasons.
- C is for all applicants on the housing register, including those that are in priority bands A and B.

How do I apply?

Get on the list

First, you've got to be on the housing waiting list to join the scheme. If you're not, register an application on line at www.royalgreenwich.gov.uk

Find your applicant number

It will be on the letter you've already had from the Royal Borough of Greenwich about the new scheme. You'll need that number and the reference number of the property you're after, which will be on the advert.

Pick out your ideal property

by looking in Greenwich Time or regularly checking the website:

www.royalgreenwich.gov.uk/homes

Click on your preference on the website. If you don't have a computer, you can always use one for free at either The Eltham or Woolwich Centre or a local library.

Apply in one of three ways

- Text bidding is now available and the number to use is 07786207913. For further information please see page 2, or
- Phone the 24-hour hotline 020 8921 4340. It's an automatic push-button system and calls will be charged at the normal local rate, or
- Via the Royal Borough of Greenwich's website
www.royalgreenwich.gov.uk/homes

The next edition of GreenwichHomes will be available on Wednesday 6 May 2015 at midday. Closing date for all applications for this issue is midnight on Sunday 3 May 2015.

IMPORTANT POLICY INFORMATION FOR THOSE AWARDED PRIORITY

When a priority is awarded, you will receive one offer of accommodation.

The following rules are used to allocate properties to applicants in Bands A, B and C, to make sure the Council makes best use of housing stock to meet needs.

- Two children (whatever gender) under 10 years old can share a bedroom
- Two children (same gender) under 16 years old can share a bedroom
- Two children of opposite gender where at least one is 10 years old or over need a bedroom each
- Each person over 16 years old needs their own bedroom
- A couple and lone parents need one bedroom
- Expected babies are counted as a person from the six month of pregnancy
- Band C applicants - Houses are allocated to a household with children (aged 15 or under)

Only RBG tenants who currently occupy houses in bands A and B, will be considered for rehousing to another house. All other priority applicants will be considered for flats or maisonettes.

Note: There are separate Allocations Policies for applicants with priority from regeneration areas.

Like for Like Moves

Council tenants housed through priority Bands A & B, are generally offered a similar type of property to that they currently occupy, of the size they require. This is because rehousing is being offered to meet safety or other needs, rather than to provide more desirable housing. Tenants, who want to move to improve the quality of their accommodation, must do so through Band C, where applicants are housed in date order.

For full details on our policies, please see the Allocations Scheme which is available on the Royal Borough of Greenwich website

Flying the flag for St George

SPRITELEY seniors at two royal borough care homes flew the flag for St George to celebrate England's patron saint last week (April 23).

Residents and staff at Meadows House Residential and Nursing Home in Woolwich and Ashgreen House Residential and Nursing Home in Kidbrooke both celebrated St George's Day in style, with a good-old-fashioned sing-along at a themed tea-party.

In keeping with the annual holiday, the homes, run by Sanctuary Care, adorned themed decorations in red and white, with residents wearing celebratory headwear.

Friends and family joined the festivities and everyone was treated to a mouth-watering selection of cakes.

Ashgreen Home activities leader, Doreen Hall, said: "Our residents love music and are always toe-tapping away when songs come on, so it's with no surprise everyone is very excited to sing some old favourites."

"Many of our residents have celebrated St George's Day for several decades, so it's important for them to continue to mark this patriotic occasion – and we can't think of a better way to celebrate than with music and delicious food."

Pauline Barr, activities leader at Ashgreen House, added: "We always celebrate St George's Day in the home as the residents always look forward to traditional events – it's very important to them!"

"It was with no surprise that this year's tea party was a cheerful affair – everyone was smiling and thoroughly enjoyed the entertainment by Jamie who made our St George's Day so special!"

Ashgreen House resident, Christine Sawyer, who turned 95 on the day said: "The St George's Day celebrations were fantastic – I love to watch people sing and dance, it was a lovely afternoon." Fellow birthday girl Edith Wilson, who turned 92, said: "It was the perfect way to celebrate our patron saint – I enjoyed the entertainment so much, I was singing along as much as I could."

Allstars shine in youth cup final

A MOTTINGHAM-based football club is celebrating bringing home the London Cup 2014/15.

AFC ALLSTARS U12s managed to beat Crayford Arrows 1-0 in the final with a late goal at Mile End stadium on April 12 after a cup run that saw them play six other games in the run to the final.

Managed by Jon Stevens and his assistant Bradley Brown, the AllStars are now playing the A division of the Selkent league after promotion last year and are also looking forward to playing in the League Cup on May 10.

AFC ALLSTARS is a well-established club represented by teams from U7 through to U15 and also runs a soccer school for children from age 4 to 6 years.

UNITED: Steve Clack and Dean Redwood promote the campaign ride at a recent game

Charlton players saddle up for Cancer charity ride

by Dan Stephens

CHARLTON Athletic's players may have almost wrapped up their season in the Championship, but the hard work is only just beginning for a group of intrepid cyclists representing the club in the 2015 London to Amsterdam challenge this summer.

Charlton will be joining over 50 other clubs in raising money for Prostate Cancer UK by competing in the challenge, which consists of a 145-mile cycle from the home of Leyton Orient in London, to Amsterdam starting on June 12 and to be completed over two days.

A 10-team strong cycling group will start out from London arriving at the port of Harwich, some 83 miles later. The team includes CAFC legend Simon Webster, Charlton Athletic Community Trust (CACT) employees Matt Parish and Dean Redwood, Charlton Live presenter Peter Finch and other members Jason Saville, Steve Clack, Alex Stedman, Paul Glover, Lakshan Saldin and Ryan Burn.

They will then catch an overnight ferry to Holland, before disembarking in their cycling attire. They will then complete the second day of the journey by cycling 62 miles through the Netherlands, before finishing the trek at Amsterdam ArenA, home of the current Dutch champions, Ajax.

Chief operating officer at Charlton Athletic Community Trust (CACT), Matt Parish said: "A few of us have done the London100 for the last two years for Prostate Cancer UK. We thought the London 2 Amsterdam cycle was a great opportunity to help raise the profile of this great cause even further and put ourselves to an even tougher test. The fact that every FL club is represented should mean there's a great atmosphere and a bit of friendly rivalry with who gets the best times. Four of our team are also planning to do the ride on tandems, which will make it even more of a challenge."

Prostate Cancer UK fights to help more men survive prostate cancer and enjoy a better quality of life. They find answers by funding ground-breaking research, leading change by raising the profile disease and improving care.

by the sporting Trust set up to support to aspiring athletes.

JJ said: "I am proud to have been selected to represent my borough as a sports ambassador for another year, and the funding will certainly go to kitting me out for a season, which is one less thing to worry about. Attending the awards was a good break from my rigorous training program, so I went into the competition feeling quite relaxed".

Battling it out with 44 of Britain's top senior competitors, JJ came out of the poule fights with 4 out of 5 victories and was ranked 5th overall for the competition. In a closely fought last 16 match JJ defeated Harry Boteler from Cornwall 15-14. Next up was Brynmor Saunders, also from Cornwall, in another close fight but JJ carved out a 15-12 victory to earn himself a place in the semi-finals. Here JJ faced the current British number one and Commonwealth champion Alexander Crutchett. With the scores locked at 12 all Crutchett edged ahead and took the victory at 15-13 forcing JJ to settle for the Bronze medal position. The following day JJ and team Camden took Silver in the team event just losing 45-43 in the final to Cornwall.

As part of the World Class Performance program (WCP) JJ's season has been centred around the senior international circuit and although only 19 and with a year left as a junior JJ has earned a place on the GB senior international team and earned five senior international caps. With some very positive results from competing against the top 100 seniors in the world JJ's GB senior ranking has shot from 44 to 4th in one season.

JJ is now on a two-week training camp in France and straight from there and four years ahead of his 2020 Olympic plan, he will attend the first of the 2016 Olympic qualifying tournaments, which is a senior world cup competition to be held in Madrid. JJ added: "This will be a great experience for me as it is well ahead of my WCP plan and I will use it a measure of what is expected over the next four years".
